

Mark Andrews, MEd, founder of Therapeutic Adventures Inc., joins AFFI Advisory Board

January 2, 2010. El Paso, Texas. The Adaptive Fly Fishing Institute's board of directors is excited to announce the newest addition to the institute's technical advisory board. Mark Andrews, the founder and Executive Director of Therapeutic Adventure Inc., brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to our organization. Mark's vision and leadership with no less than three different therapeutic and adaptive fly fishing programs in Virginia and over three decades of experience as an adaptive outdoor recreation professional represent our ever-expanding quest to bring together the most authoritative body of professionals in the industry to guide our training, research and development, and certification efforts in the field of therapeutic and adaptive fly fishing.

Mark has a Masters in Education, is a published author, and has received numerous prestigious awards for his career in public service. He lives in Charlottesville, Virginia.

Therapeutic Adventures Inc. provides increased access to adaptive wilderness adventures, water sports, and snow sports in the mid-atlantic states and is headquartered in Virginia. TA serves people of all ages with physical and developmental disabilities, chronic medical diagnoses, and other special health needs by providing innovative, cutting edge services to increase outdoor access, education & training, research & development as well as adaptive equipment & assistive technology for clients and professionals.

The Adaptive Fly Fishing Institute is dedicated to the education and certification of fly fishing instructors, guides, medical professionals, educators, and other service providers in order to ensure the highest possible quality of service to the special needs community.